"Joseph: Living the Dream"

Genesis 37:3-11 (click for Scripture)

Acts 7:9-16 (click for Scripture)

Stephen, the first recorded Christian martyr, first appears in Acts 6:5 and takes his last breath at the end of chapter 7. In between he is singled out for his faith, grace and powerful spirit. His wondrous works and signs irritated the Jerusalem church to the point that, like Jesus, he was drug before the Council on trumped up charges. He is allowed to speak in his own defense at which point he launches into an impassioned overview of God's work through the great patriarchs of the Hebrew Scriptures.

Do you remember your dreams? I usually don't, which I will say more about on Sunday. Part 3 of our Summer Sermon Series looks at Joseph, he of the coat of many colors and interpretation of dreams. Dreams play a key role throughout the Bible but no one is more closely associated with dreaming than Joseph, except possibly Jesus' earthly father, his Gospel namesake. Stephen doesn't mention dreams in his sermon in Acts 7 but they hover just below the surface as the Joseph story illuminates God's unique interaction with the Hebrew people and the story's universal appeal beyond the borders of Palestine.

Join us for worship this Sunday at 10:30 AM as we continue to examine the origins of modern day Christianity through Stephen and the Old Testament patriarchs.

Blessings and Peace,

Danny

Summer Sermon Series

The Birth of Christianity: Patriarchs, Saints and Sinners.

Using Acts chapters 6 and 7 as our primary Scripture, we will look at a pivotal moment in the life of the early church that set the stage for the ministry of the Apostle Paul and the beginnings of the modern Christian Church.

The protagonist in this drama is Stephen, who criticizes the Jews' obsession with the Temple and their rejection of Jesus as predicted by the prophets, and becomes the first martyr in Christian history.

Acts 6-7 is often called the 'Acts of Stephen'. Within Acts these chapters serve as a bridge concluding the story of the earliest community in Jerusalem and at the same time setting the stage for the spread of the Gospel beyond Palestine.

Not merely a history lesson, we will consider how Stephen's speech and subsequent execution inform us today as a church in the 21st century in need of a seismic event of our own.

Date	Title	Scripture
July 16	Stephen: Full of Grace and Power	Acts 6:1-15
July 23	Abraham	Acts 7:1-8
July 30-16	Joseph	Acts 7-9-
August 6-45	Moses	Acts 7:17-
August 13	David and Solomon	Acts 7:46-50
